'Grand' end to her 40th fair

Longtime supporter, board member and entrant of the Elk Point Agricultural Fair / Horticulture and Craft Show, Millie Orr (right) accepted the Grand Aggregate award from board chairman Donna Bassett, along with three section awards. She also took home the Violet Memorial Prize for the largest number of entries in the quilting and knitting, crochet and weaving sections.

Grand Aggregate for 40-year fair entrant

Millie Orr celebrated 40 years of involvement with the Elk Point Agricultural Society Fair and its modern equivalent, the Horticulture and Craft Show, with her win of the Grand Aggregate award on Sunday, along with section wins in canning, quilting and seniors' fair, and the Violet Memorial Prize, sponsored by the McFadyen family.

The Grand Aggregate award is sponsored by UFA, the canning award by the Empress Family Restaurant, the quilting award by B & R Eckels Transport and the seniors' award by Hahn Welding.

Myrna Fox presented the McFadyens' award, noting that her mother, Violet McFadyen, was "a very strong advocate of participating in fairs, from her school's fair as a child to the Elk Point Fair when we moved here. She would load her car with entries, and encourage her friends to participate." The award, she noted, goes to the person with the most entries in two sections of the show, with those sections changing from year to year. This year, the designated sections were quilting and knitting, crochet and weaving, "and next year they will be different." As her mother's favourite flowers were her namesake violets, the award included a basket of beautiful blooming African violets.

Wolke Cueva, Carson Vogel show champs

Elk Point 4-H Multi Club highlighted the achievements of the members on Sunday, with a noon-hour downpour moving eastward just in time for the outdoor sheep show and canine demonstrations.

The first event of the afternoon was moved indoors to avoid the last few raindrops, with mistress of ceremonies Leanna Gibson leading the 4-H pledge in the A. G. Ross Arena lobby, then handing the microphone to conformation judge Erin Yaremko, who gave the members some valuable insight into an unusual challenge: judging not show animals, but marble birthday cakes.

By the time the junior and intermediate members had made their choices and written out the reasons for them, the clouds were parting and everyone moved outside the arena to the show ring, where five six-to-eight-year-old Cleaver members, Eros Cueva, Shaylyn Klatt, Emma-May Nelson, Darianna Boorse and Alexis Krider, were introduced.

Shaylyn and Emma-May returned to the ring with Mackenzie Evans and Shyanne Klatt and their dogs for the Canine Project's agility demonstration. Each girl led her dog through a slalom course of poles, through a tire jump and tunnel, up and over a teeter-totter, through another tire, up a ramp, across a suspended plank, down a second ramp, over a jump and through a second tunnel before repeating the whole course in reverse, under the watchful eye of project leader Darryl Klatt.

Local athletes learn from former Toronto Blue Jays

By JEAN OCKERMAN
Review Contributor

On July 28, 29 and 30, three local athletes attended the Honda Blue Jays Baseball Academy in Edmonton. Corbin Ockerman, Kaiden Evans-Anderson and Vanessa Ockerman participated in the camp where they were taught baseball fundamentals by former Toronto Blue Jays players. It was an opportunity of a lifetime and they were provided the developmental tools needed to succeed on and off the field.

They participated in eight different coaching clinics, and got to play ball, get important training and advice, and get to know these former professional ball players. The coaches worked the athletes hard, but rewarded them with an autograph session of signed baseballs, hats, gloves and programs. They also received, for free, their own hats t-shirts and Roberto Alomar leather ball gloves.

It was an amazing opportunity for these athletes to learn from the pros, and they are looking forward to going back next year!

Blue-green algae advisory issued for Kehewin Lake

MARK EVANS

AHS Communications

Blue-green algae are currently present in the waters of Kehewin Lake (located south of Bonnyville). Residents, including residents of First Nations communities, living near the shores of this lake, as well as visitors to this lake, are advised to take the following precautions:

DO NOT DRINK WATER from or allow your pets to drink water from this lake. Boiling contaminated water does not remove toxins from the water. Provide an alternative source of drinking water for pets and livestock.

DO NOT SWIM OR WADE or allow your pets to swim or wade in this lake.

AVOID CONTACT with blue-green algae along the shoreline.

PEOPLE MAY wish to limit their consumption of fish from this lake.

Blue-green algae produce a toxin (poison) that can cause serious illness to animals or humans who drink or have skin contact with water containing this toxin. Although weather and wind conditions can cause algae blooms to move from one location in the lake to another, the toxin can stay in the water even after algae have moved or disappeared.

As such, this advisory will remain in effect until further notice.

People who come in contact with or ingest water containing toxic blue-green algae may experience skin irritation, rash, sore throat, sore red eyes, swollen lips, fever, nausea and vomiting and/ or diarrhea. Symptoms usually appear within one to three hours and resolve in one to two days. Symptoms in children are often more pronounced because they spend more time in the water and are more likely to accidentally ingest contaminated water.

People who consume contaminated water as a primary source for drinking water can develop more serious illnesses, such as liver damage, over time.

If you suspect a problem related to blue-green algae, or if you require further information on blue-green algae, please call Health Link Alberta at 1-866-408-LINK (5465).

Alberta Health Services is the provincial health authority responsible for planning and delivering health supports and services for more than 3.9 million adults and children living in Alberta. Its mission is to provide a patient-focused, quality health system that is accessible and sustainable for all Albertans.

Today's farm equipment is bigger than ever. That can mean big problems when working around power lines.

Plan ahead. Call us at 1-800-668-2248, and we'll work together to move your equipment safely.

Achievement Day

This was followed up by an obedience demonstration of walking and jogging in a circle, reversing direction, sitting off leash and coming to their owners when called.

Sheep Project members Carson and Nolan Vogel, Morgan Evans, Lyon and Wolke Cueva and Tammy Roberts and Cleavers Emma-May Nelson and Eros Cueva then led their lambs into the ring for the Showmanship and Grooming competitions, judged by Andrew Yaremko. In the Intermediate age group, Morgan Evans topped both competitions, with Lyon Cueva second in Showmanship and Nolan Vogel second in Grooming. Junior member Carson Vogel also was a double winner, with Tammy Roberts second in Showmanship and Wolke Cueva second in Grooming.

The sheep returned to their pens briefly, while Crafts Project leader Darcy Evans introduced members Mackenzie Evans, Brooke and Madison Krider and Edna Kulczycki and the Cleavers and listed some of their projects and activities this year. Leader Val Gibson spoke on the Poultry Project undertaken by Leanna and Dana Gibson and Abby, Morgan and Sadie Baker this year.

The sheep came back into the ring for the Conformation Class, with the judge carefully examining each animal before she chose the winners. "I'm extremely pleased to see all these kids out here, and to see them taking an interest," Erin Yaremko said, telling the Cleavers they had "done a great job" and commenting on each lamb in the lineup, ending with "two very stylish lambs" shown by Wolke Cueva, who received the Grand Champion banner, and Carson Vogel, winning Reserve Champion.

With the lambs returned to their stalls, the cakes came out, and Erin Yaremko remarked on the "unique competition. I have judged lots of weird things, but never cake." She listed her choices and the reasons for them before the winners were announced, with each top competitor also invited to explain their reasons. Edna Boorse won the Senior division, Leanna Gibson and Nolan Vogel were first and second in the Intermediate group and Carson Vogel and Mackenzie Evans were first and second in the Juniors.

Following another appearance by the Canine Project members, five major awards were presented to deserving members. The Terry Holmgren Award was presented to Wolke Cueva, the Spirit of 4-H award went to Lyon Cueva and Edna Boorse won the Bruce Smith Memorial Award. Lyon Cueva also accepted a bronze Award of Excellence from Cassandra Nelson of ATB Financial, with a silver Award of Excellence going to Ashley Bristow, both of those awards based on the 2011-2012 4-H year.

The afternoon wound up with the sale of five market lambs, each of them bringing a top bid of $500.

by Your Natural Choice Apple Drugs pharmacist, Chris Letawsky

- We've been hearing for years that a needle-free injection device will soon be on the market. Well, the scientists at MIT have developed one which delivers a microscopically thin stream of medicine under high pressure through the skin and into the tissue. It is still being tested but hopefully available in a year or two.
- There appears to be a link between the amount of sugar we consume and our blood pressure. One easy way of cutting sugar consumption is to reduce the number of sugar-drinks you consume daily. Even reducing by one can help. Reducing our daily calorie intake can produce a multitude of health benefits. Start today.
- It's always interesting to read about how health affected some famous people. Beethoven, for example, used fewer higher notes in his later compositions as his deafness increased. Analyses of his string quartets found he used fewer notes above G in his later quartets because he couldn't hear them.
- In England, more and more people are successfully quitting smoking. The National Health Services Stop Smoking program in 2011-12 reported that 800,000 people set a quit date with 49% being successful which is a 5% increase in success from 2010-11 and a whopping 235% increase over 2001-02. It can be done.
- Pharmacists can help smokers quit with smoking cessation programs. We'd love to talk to you about what's available to help you with your decision to stop. You and your family won't regret it.

Turning 30

Congratulations to the Elk Point Oilmen's Association as they host their 30th Annual Oilmen's Golf Tournament.

This event has come a long way from the beginning, when prizes and refreshments were housed in tents and golfers played on sand greens and took their ease in lawn chairs, long before the golf course clubhouse and grass greens became a reality.

Ten flights took part in that first annual success, and the event has weathered challenges ranging from industry downturns to a four-inch deluge of rain.

We're proud to have covered your success story.

GUEST COLUMN

Taking a healthier approach at work

By MORNEAU SHEPELL

Another workday begins. After stumbling out of bed and getting ready you head to work. On the way, you hit the drive thru for some caffeine and pick up a box of donuts for your morning meeting. By 10 a.m. you're full of energy. By 11 a.m., you can barely keep your eyes open. With so much work to do, you and your colleagues skip lunch or grab some takeout. And exercise? Who's got the time?

It may seem like making healthy choices--especially at work--is too inconvenient and takes too much time, but it doesn't have to be.

■ Grazing greener. Help keep waistlines trim, energy levels consistent and arteries clear by swapping those donuts for a fruit tray or yogurt at your next meeting. Better still, put healthy snacking on the agenda by organizing a "Well Wednesday" or "Fresh Friday," where employees take turns bringing in nutritious treats for everyone to share.

■ Stepping up the pace. Connect with co-workers by organizing a pre or post-work walking group. "Training" for a charity walk or run not only gives the group a goal to work toward, but a sense of greater purpose. Walking is a great way to boost your health, mood and productivity. Or try some lunchtime Yoga or Pilates. Consider pulling together a company slow pitch, basketball or volleyball team--anything that encourages you and your co-workers to get together and get active.

■ Passing it on. Whether it's a great article on exercise and depression, a fabulous low fat recipe, or health and wellness information, don't keep it to yourself. Pass it on. If you have a company intranet, post links on the site. Keep it upbeat and general and be sensitive to other people's comfort levels. Avoid singling out individuals or distributing information on controversial issues.

■ Breathing life into wasted space. Take the initiative and transform a cubbyhole of vacant space into a "recharging space" or "decompression lounge" for people to visit on breaks to de-stress. It doesn't have to take major effort or money. Clear out the clutter and replace it with some comfortable seating, play some relaxing classical or jazz music and add the water cooler to help everyone stay hydrated. It could also be a great place to post wellness tips and information.

Championing a healthy work environment doesn't require huge, time-consuming changes. It can be simple--it's about enthusiasm, creativity and action. Helping strengthen the physical and emotional wellness of co-workers is bound to spread, leading to healthier minds, bodies and a more productive workplace.

OUR VIEWS

Sister city, Steer Stake, quilts from near and far

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF AUG. 13 IN...

1988

Elk Point's unofficial ambassador Sid Holthe brought Mayor Byron Mann greetings and souvenirs from the mayor of Elk Point, South Dakota, as well as a videotape he had taken on his visit to of that community. Forty senior 4-H members from the St. Paul region, including Leanne Drobot and Dwayne Vogel from the Elk Point club, visited Montana on the first half of an exchange trip that included a tour of Custer Battlefield.

1993

Elk Point Agricultural Society's first livestock show for many decades was a big success, with 11 steers competing in the Classic Steer Stake, won by Jennifer Fenton of Irma, and Brad Payne of Greenwood Limousin, Lloydminster, showing the grand champion heifer. Beaver River Member of Parliament Deborah Grey married Lewis Larson at Dewberry Community Church.

1998

New 'County Mountie', RCMP Cst. Catherine Bedford was on patrol, working with the County of St. Paul for the safety of rural residents. County ratepayers voiced their concerns about the county's future, after the revamping of the municipal development plan addressed subdivision policies, lakeside lots, environmental issues and odors emanating from large agricultural production facilities.

2003

A display of 47 quilts, one originating in Saudi Arabia and created by Kathy Shepherd Soetart, granddaughter of Jim and Winnie Shepherd, highlighted the Elk Point Fair, where the grand aggregate award went to Lillian Balazs of Cold Lake, with second place going to preteen Kelsey Lindquist. The Town of Elk Point's Physician Recruitment Committee told residents that a doctor from South Africa had "expressed a keen interest in our town and will be coming to visit."

2008

First-time entrant Delores Mohyluk was "hooked on the show" after winning the Elk Point Agricultural Society's Horticulture and Craft Show grand aggregate and four section aggregates, according to chairman Donna Bassett, who presented the runner-up award to Millie Orr and third place to Lillian Balazs. A gathering of Frog Lake First Nations' friends and partners was part of their powwow, with representatives of oil companies joining Grand Chief Wayne Monias, former Minister of Indian Affairs Bob Nault, Frog Lake Chief George Stanley, his council and other dignitaries in a solemn ceremony prior to the Grand Entry, where John Lau, President and CEO of Husky Energy was made an Honorary Chief.

Roper named Canadian champion

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

High school rodeo competition has taken local cowboy Austin Young a long way this summer - all the way to Gallup, New Mexico in June for the National High School Rodeo Finals, and then to Nanton, Alberta at the end of July, for the Canadian championships.

Austin competes in both tie down roping and team roping, where he partnered up with Grady Quam of Crossfield for the two competitions.

Austin and Grady took home the Canadian championship for the Junior Division (Grades 6 to 8) in the Team Roping, with Austin also winning the 2013 Canadian Tie Down Roping reserve championship.

to be a part of their team by bringing her pitching, fielding and batting skills to the dugout, as they head to Richmond, BC to compete in the Western Canadian competition August 8 to 11. Once in Richmond, the Thunder is guaranteed to play seven round robin games in hopes to make it to the Sunday finals.

Once the Western Championship is over, Taylor will then hop on a plane and venture to the east coast in which she will participate in the U18 National competition in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island August 12 to 18, with the Midget A Calahoo Erins who are also guaranteed seven round robin games. Taylor said she was pretty excited and honored to be given the opportunity to participate in both westerns and nationals with the teams that asked her to join them. It will be a wonderful opportunity and a great way to finish her ball season, even though it will be a lot of ball in a short amount of time.

Good luck to Taylor in both tournaments. We look forward to hearing the results when she gets back.

Horticulture and Craft Show

Orr said she plans to "retire from fair," feeling "it's time for new blood" in the organization.

Second place in the Grand Aggregate went to Lillian Balasz of Cold Lake, and third to Doris Mohyluk, both of those prizes sponsored by the Agricultural Society.

Denise Bjorkman was the winner of the Arts, Crafts and Hobbies section, sponsored by Elk Point Insurance, while Margaret Bayduza took home the Baking prize, sponsored by Elk Point Co-op.

The Elk Point Review's Creative Writing prizes went to Jennifer Van der Hoek, Katarina Shapka and Heaven Colbourne, with Shapka also winning the Junior Fair award from Shamrock Valley Enterprises.

Other multiple winners were Laverne Wilson, who won both Fresh Fruit, sponsored by Knotty Boyz, and Vegetables, sponsored by Shamrock Valley Enterprises, and Verona Lea Flanders, who won sewing, sponsored by JPD Enterprises, and Yard Art, sponsored by the Agricultural Society.

Myrna Fox won the Rona award in the Flowers section, Ina Gillespie the House Plants award from Moe's Gardens and Greenhouse and Lynn Margererson the Knitting, Crochet and Weaving award from Elk Point Pharmacy, while Lynn Urquhart won the Photography award sponsored by Home Town Grocers.

The Horticulture and Craft Show was joined in the A. G. Ross Arena by a tremendous display of close to 120 quilts and quilted items, ranging from those recently completed to vintage quilts showing the results of many years of providing welcome warmth. Designs ranged from traditional to ultramodern, simple squares to intricate combinations, in every colour of the rainbow, and delighted quilting fans who were happy to see the show return after a year's absence.

An art show was another added attraction, with more than 40 paintings exhibited by local artists Shirley Kinneberg, Kathy Gusnowski and Bonnie Smith, drawing lots of attention from the crowd.

Eighteen organizations and vendors filled the rest of the arena floor with a mini trade fair, offering information on beef, college courses, the North Saskatchewan River watershed, a children's agriculture program and the Health Care Auxiliary as well as everything from books to bracelets and cosmetics to cookware, with fresh-from-the-garden vegetables also on offer.

Elk Point 4-H Multi Club played an important role in this year's show, with displays in the arena depicting their K9, Cleavers, Poultry, Sheep and Crafts programs, and a huge tent and show ring outside housing the Market Lamb show and sale, canine project displays and the presentation of 4-H awards. 4-H parents and leaders also braved late morning downpours to barbecue burgers and hot dogs for fair visitors. This first-time combination was such a success that the 4-H component could become a permanent part of the show.

Elk Point Oilmen's Association proudly presents the 30th ANNUAL Elk Point OILMEN'S GOLF TOURNAMENT August 16 and 17, 2013

The President's message

It's that time again, the Elk Point Oilmen's Golf Tournament is about to commence. On behalf of the E.P.O.A., I would like to send out a warm welcome to all.

There are so many people to thank. Let me begin with our community, which every year, seems to go that extra mile for us to make the atmosphere so enjoyable and comfortable for all. Without the generosity from the many sponsors, donors, volunteers and businesses (old and new), we would not be able to hold such an event every year. THANK YOU SO MUCH!!

Let us not forget the Elk Point Golf Course (Ian, Becky and staff). We appreciate the long hours you put into preparing everything for our festivities. Your hard work is and will be noticed in the forthcoming event, thanks to all.

Now to all participating golfers, your scores have all improved from last year. Your fellowship, companionship and camaraderie will be in top form, and the reminiscing of last year to this year will of course be at its best.

To the E.P.O.A. golf committee, I know the job you fellows have done and the effort put into this year's function will again do us proud.

In closing, I wish the best to all golfers and non-golfers. Enjoy celebrating with us on our 30th golf tourney. Have fun, but remember, please do not drink and drive for we have shuttle service to accommodate all. We want everybody to get home to your families safely and to be able to return next year.

- Quality Athletic and Fine Arts Programs
- English and Alternative French programming
- French Second Language, Cree and German Language Instruction
- State of the art technology
- Public and Catholic education

Registration Information

All parents who have not pre-registered and paid for fees in June are encouraged to register their child(ren) on registration days so that the first day of school is a full and productive day for students.

Please note – Required at the time of registration:
 legal land description for all rural residents and street addresses for students living in towns or villages. For first time registrants previous year's school documentation, AB Health Care Card, and student identification such as birth certificate and/or treaty card are also required.

Due to limited space in certain schools, consideration will be given to students who are currently registered in these schools.
